Just a reminder that the Worldchanging Book tour is continuing in New York City tomorrow night at 6:30pm with a panel discussion at the Urban Center titled: "WorldChanging: Models, Tools and Ideas for Creating a Sustainable Future".

It should be a great place to learn more about local solutions to our unfolding energy and environmental crises.

And then on Wednesday at 7pm at All Souls Unitarian Church (80th Street and Lexington Avenue) please come if you can to the Upper Green Side Meeting where Ben Jervey, author of The Big Green Apple will speak about the new generation of urban environmentalists.
