

Grist Interview with Matt Simmons

Posted by Glenn on November 7, 2005 - 11:09am in The Oil Drum: Local

Topic: Policy/Politics

Tags: matthew simmons, oil, peak oil [list all tags]

Grist is one of my favorite online magazines on environmental and sustainability. They are also peak oil aware. They recently did an interview with Matthew Simmons - where he expressed his views on everything from his inspiration for writing "Twilight in the Desert", his bet with John Tierney and what he is doing to consume less energy.

My favorite exchange is this:

Q: You have an enormous amount, professionally, riding on the prediction that peak oil is nigh.

Matt Simmons: I'm basically betting my entire career.

I don't agree with everything Matt Simmons says, but I admire him greatly. We need more people like Matt Simmons in America.

This work is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution-Share Alike 3.0 United States License.