

VOTE! VOTE! VOTE! VOTE!

Posted by Glenn on November 8, 2005 - 12:15am in The Oil Drum: Local

Topic: Policy/Politics

Tags: new york, new york city, oil, peak oil [list all tags]

Election Day is upon us. I urge you all to vote your conscience on Election Day. For some other perspectives on how to vote from some like-minded bloggers, check out Aaron Naparstek's picks and read the Starts and Fits endorsement of Bloomberg. I have to laugh, only in NYC can 3 like-minded people find 3 separate candidates to vote for.

But the most important item on the ballot tomorrow is Proposition #2 (VOTE YES!) that might actually be close given the traditional city vs. upstate divide on Transportation issues. For more background I recommend this post.

This work is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution-Share Alike 3.0 United States License.